Kendall's Spavin Cure.

The Most Successful Remedy ever discovered, as it is certain it effects and does not blister. READ PROOF BELOW.

From Rev. P. N. GRANGER.

Presiding Elder of the St. Albans District.
ST. ALBANS, VT., Jan., 20, 1880.
DR. B. J. KENDALL & Co., Gents:—In reply to your letter I will say that my experience with Kendall's Spavin Cure has been very satisfactory indeed. Three or four years ago I procured a bottle of your agent, and with it, cured a horse of lameness caused by a spavin. Last season my horse became very lame and I turned him out for a few weeks when he became better, but when I put him on the road he grew worse, when I discovered that a ring-bone was forming, I procured a bottle of Kendall's Spavin Cure and with less than a bottle cured him so that he is not lame, neither can the bunch be found. Respectfully yours,
P. N. GRANGER.

Perseverance Will Tell.

STROUGHTON, MASS., March 16, 1880.
B. J. KENDALL & Co., Gents:—In justice to you and myself, I think I ought to let you know that I have removed two bone spavins with Kendall's Spavin Cure, one very large one, don't know how long the spavin had been there. I have owned the horse eight months. It took me four months to take the large one off and two for the small one. I have used ten bottles. The horse is entirely well, not at all stiff, and no bunch to be seen or felt. This is a wonderful medicine. It is a new thing here, but if it does for all what it has done for me it will be very great.

Respectfully yours, CHAS. E. PARKER.
KENDALL'S SPAVIN CURE is sure in its effects, mild in its action as it does not blister, yet it is penetrating and powerful to reach a every deep seated pain or to remove any bony growth or other enlargement, such as spavins, splints, curbs, callous, sprains, swellings, any lameness and all enlargements of the joints or limbs, or rheumatism in man and for any purpose for which a liniment is used for man or beast. It is now known to be the best liniment for man ever used, acting mild, and yet certain in its effects.

Send address for illustrated Circular which we think gives positive proof of its virtues. No remedy has ever met with such unqualified success to our knowledge, for beast as well as man.

Price $1. per bottle, or six bottles for $5. ALL DRUGGISTS have it or can get it for you or it will be sent to any address on receipt of price by the proprietors, DR. B. J. KENDALL & CO., Enosburgh Falls, Vermont. 127d.

"NOT A LINE IN THE PAPER THAT NOBODY READS."

The editor sat in his chair alone—
A busier person there never was known—
When came a farmer, a jolly old soul,
Whose name for long years had been borne on the roll
Of paying subscribers. He had come into town
To bring his good wife and some farm produce down,
And having a moment or two he could spare
Had run in as usual, to bring in a share
Of his own inward sunshine, to lighten the gloom
Of the man of the press and his dull cheerless room.
The editor's smile, as he lifted his eyes
And saw who was there, was of joyful surprise;
And he greeted his friend with a deal of glad zest,
For a good chat with him was like taking a rest.

When at length the old farmer got ready to leave,
He said, with a sly little laugh in his sleeve,
"My dear friend, there is one thing I just want to say—
Now, please don't get vexed, for you know it's my way—
But what makes you put in each paper you print
So much that is worthless—do you take the hint?
Well—petty misfortunes—and little misdeeds—
And lots of small matters that nobody reads."
The editor looked at him square in the face,
At first with a frown, then a smile took its place.

"My dear friend," he replied, I'm surprised you don't know
Every line in the paper is read—but it's so;
And now, if you wish, I will make my words good,
And prove what I say, as every man should.
I'll put in the very next paper a line
Or two about you—in coarse print or fine,
Whichever you choose, and just where you may say,
And if you don't find on the very next day
That your neighbors all read it, I promise to give Free subscriptions to you, just as long as you live."
"Agreed," said the farmer, "you shall sing a new song;
Put it right in the middle of one of those long
Fine-type advertisements—I never yet knew
Any person of sense to read one of those through;
If I hear from it twice, I will bring down to you
The best load of garden sauce I ever grew."
Then the "good days" were passed, and the farmer went out,
And the editor laughed to himself without doubt,
As he thought of waver and how it would end,
And the nice little joke he would have on his friend;
Then he wrote just two lines, and he ordered them set
In the smallest type—thinking, "I'll win that bet."

And he placed them himself, to be sure and not fail,
In the midst of a close agate real estate sale.
For, to better succeed in his little designs,
He'd selected a place where to put these two lines
And have them connected with what followed and make
A sentence complete in itself, without break.
These were the lines that he wrote: "Our old friend, good James True,
Who is one of the best men the world ever knew,
Of the well known Hope Farm"—that was all that he said

About James, but the line next below these two read
"Will be sold very cheap"—then went on to unfold
The beauties and bounds of the estate to be sold.
The paper was printed. The next day but one,
The farmer came in, with his eyes full of fun;
"You have won," he began, "just as sure as you're born;

Why, before I'd got breakfast ate yesterday morn,
Two or three of my neighbors called, purpose to see
What that meant in the paper they saw about me.
(I hadn't seen it yet.) Then, during the day,
Every neighbor that met me had something to say
About my being sold. I was sold very cheap,
And you did it well, too; it was too good to keep,
So I've told the whole story, and come with all speed
To bring you the garden sauce as I agreed."

The editor looked from his window and saw
His friend had brought in all his horses could draw—
All for him; he declined to accept it, but found
That his friend would not listen, and was off with a bound.

Saying, cheerily, as he went out—"In your next
Just say Jim True's preaching, and this is the text:
There is naught in the paper—fruit, flowers, or weeds—
Not a line in the paper that nobody reads."

Prof. A. B. Bredow, a poor music teacher, who died at Greensboro, N. C., a few days ago, was a member of the Berlin Academy of Art and Science and a Knight of the Iron Cross.

A Human Calliope.

Chicago Tribune.

People who have had occasion to pass the Tribune office corner recently in the evening have doubtless been mystified and puzzled by what sounded like the low, soft notes of a calliope. These sounds are heard every evening about this corner, and many curious people have spent valuable time in vain endeavors to find out the source of this mysterious noise. Some have attributed it to the steam whistle, while others have thought it was the wind whistling through the telegraph wires, and but few have found a satisfactory explanation of the noise. For a time it sorely puzzled the reporters of the Tribune, who would rush to the windows of the local room every time the sounds were heard, and out into the night only to see the Blue Island avenue car rattling over the stony street.

One evening a curious reporter started out with a firm resolution to ferret out the mystery. At the corner he caught the scent and followed it closely until he came to a neighboring beer palace. Descending to the lower stratum, he came upon a colored individual, who appeared to be the center of an admiring crowd of beer-punishers. As the newspaper man entered he was picking a glass of the amber fluid from between his massive lips. Depositing it on a table, he vigorously grabbed his right ear, gave it a twist, and from his mouth came the musical sounds of a calliope. The mystery was solved!

This colored man is a queer-looking customer, very black, who is known all over the country as "Steamboat Bill," and is a whole show in himself. He will be remembered by some as being connected with Haverly's colored minstrels, doing imitations. Tiring of working on a salary with a troupe he started off on his own hook, and now travels around from city to city giving his specialties in saloons and passing around the hat. Before he performs this ceremony he announces that he intends leaving town the next day and needs the money to get away with. This statement acts as sort of magnet to small change, and he leaves the crowd with well-filled pockets, only to turn up next evening with the same old racket.

His specialties are numerous, varied and entertaining. His imitation of the steam calliope is singularly correct, and his imitation of a steamboat is so good that it gave him the name he is known by. He also gives good imitations of a banjo, with song; of a buzz saw, and a planing mill; of a sanguinary fight between two dogs; of a bass viol, and of a locomotive. He can put a lighted stub of candle on his head and blow it out with one breadth, and can shut his capacious mouth on a lighted cigar stub, and bring it out again burning fiercely. One very good thing he does is to fill a glass half full of beer, set another glass in it, drink the beer in the lower glass, and put both glasses on the bar with his hands in his pockets. He take the upper glass out by clasping it tightly under his chin, takes the glass of beer between his teeth, leans back and drinks slowly, and walks to the bar and deposits the glass on it. His capacity for beer is unlimited. His latest gag is to stand in front of an auction store, attract a crowd with his imitations, and entice them inside. Once in the auctioneer springs a lot of cheap jewelry on them before they can escape. Steamboat William will probably remain in the city as long as the shekels are forth coming.

Miss Greyson, who had for many years been bedridden with spinal disease, at Erie, Pa., believed that she could be cured by prayer. She talked with the attending physician about it, and he said he would arrange for a meeting of devout persons, at the house of a neighbor, when her recovery should be earnestly implored. At the appointed time she sprang from the couch and declared herself miraculously recovered. But the perfidious doctor had called no meeting, and no praying had been done.

DAILY EVENING BULLETIN.

THURSDAY EVE., JULY 27, 1882.

TERMS:—The EVENING BULLETIN is published daily, and served free of postage at 6 cents per week; 25 cents per month; 75 cents per three months; $1.50 per six months, and $3 per year, payable in advance.

THE EVENING BULLETIN HAS A LARGER CIRCULATION IN THIS CITY, CHESTER AND ABERDEEN, OHIO, THAN ANY OTHER PAPER PUBLISHED IN MAYSVILLE.

The State of Kentucky pays $8,719,162 annually to the Federal government.

We shall have no more trouble with the Half-Breeds. The Eagle will gather them under its maternal wings and cuddle them with "esprit."

The proud soul of the Eagle inflates with envy. For the BULLETIN to use the lash is an invasion of its peculiar prerogative. But, then, the Eagle's victims never "agonize" or "scream." They march right on to glory.

The Eagle rises at the eleventh hour to deliver elaborate eulogies upon the life, character and public services of Dennis Fitzgerald. Incidentally, too, it commends the insubordination and treachery of the noble Half-Breeds. Ingenuous Eagle!

J. J. NEWELL charges that Senator Kellogg, of Louisiana, is the man who distributed the corruption fund in the Senate to procure the passage of the Texas Pacific Land Grant Bill and Richard C. Parsons the one who distributed it in the House.

The Eagle has conceived a violent admiration for "skulkers and traitors." It would not touch their tender skins with a "lash." This is too repulsive to the Eagle's tastes. It would rather seduce them in a sort of philanthropic fashion, with poppy-cock and "esprit"—the latter being a sort of French substitute for whiskey straight.

When a man submits his own and his friend's claims to the action of a regular convention and having participated in its deliberations, treacherously bolts the regular nomination, let him have the lash. It should be freely applied and followed after the election by a copious draught of "esprit." This suggestion has the advantage of embodying the merits of both plans.

The editor of the Eagle says that the use of the lash brutalizes those who use it. No one can speak on this point with more authority than this veteran moralist. He has used it freely in times past, not only upon "skulkers" and "traitors," but upon men who never scratched a ticket or dodged an issue. Let him reflect before he poses and moralizes in so affected a fashion as this.

The Eagle would not apply the lash with "impartial hand to skulkers in the ranks and traitors in high places." It would appeal to what it calls "the esprit of good fellowship." If this means "corn whisky" probably it would be an effective substitute. But then, the Eagle ought to say what it means. The Half-Breeds are not so familiar with the esprit of good fellowship as the noble editor seems to be, at least they don't know it by that name.

If the Republicans and Half Breeds who manipulated the nomination of John Kirk had been serious in their professions of political reform, they would have given the leading Republicans of the county a voice in the selection of a candidate. A political party what will deliberately throw overboard such men as Wm. Howe and John Masterson for the personal and exclusive benefit of John Kirk are capable of committing any atrocity in a small way.

A Banquet is to be tendered General Godfrey Weitzel, at Detroit, on the eve of his departure from that city.

Gregory Litherman, member of the Barracks Band, at Columbus, and connected with the army since 1851, was fatally injured by a fall from a window.

At Freeport, Wayne county, Pa., two girls named Stearns, murdered their step-mother and concealed her body, but the secret leaked out finally. One of the girls was arrested; the other fled.

Governor Porter, of Indiana, has pardoned Theodore Brown, who was sentenced for a long term, in Marion county, in 1873, for killing his wife with a blow of his fist, while drunk. He has gone insane.

The Commercial's Dayton correspondent reports that Brother Barnes is losing his grip there. His audiences have dwindled down to one hundred and fifty a night, and not a single conversion has been made for a week.

The organization of parties to observe the transit of Venus in December next, has been delayed by the slowness of Congress in providing funds, but chiefs of parties and stations at which observations are to be made, have been selected.

At Cleaveland, Wilson won the 2:38 trot in 2:22½, 2:24½ and 2:22½. Jerome Eddy won the 2:23 trot in 2:19, 2:18 and 2:19. It is believed Eddy could have gone in 2:15. W. J. Garrison's four-in-hand trotted a mile in 2:48, the best previous time on record being 2:56½.

Captain John S. Wise, Readjuster candidate for Congressman-at-Large, and John S. Crockett, Commonwealth's Attorney for Wythe County, fought a duel near Christiansburg, Va., Tuesday morning. Two rounds were fired, neither party hurt and the affair terminated satisfactorily.

In the U. S. Senate Tuesday, the most important action was to strike out the polariscope in the twenty-five per cent, reduction of the sugar tax amendment. The conference report on the river and harbor bill was agreed to. In the house, the conference report was disagreed to, but the action will probably be reconsidered.

Three British war vessels have left Alexandria for Port Said. The position in front of Ramleh is being reinforced with cannon. A successor for Arabi Pasha has been appointed in the Egyptian Ministry. A crushing force of English troops will be sent to Egypt, but it will be the policy of the Government, after subduing Arabi Pasha's rebellion, to leave the people to manage their own affairs. The Conference of the Powers is threatened with dissolution. England and France are both opposing proposals of a Turkish occupation of Egypt, which the Porte is persistently pressing.

Our Court street neighbor, when he likes
Can very funny be;
For instance, here, this week he puts
The Eagle on esprit
And while the old bird's bobbing round
And everything it smashes,
The snakes that come before its eyes,
Are quickly turned to "lashes."

WHEAT commands ninety-two cents a bushel at Paris. Thus far there have been shipped from that place 226 carloads or 135,556 bushels.

THE Eagle ought straightway to drop the esprit business. It is not becoming. The old bird figures to the best advantage in paint and feathers and plain English.

At the present term of the Mason Circuit Court, Mrs. Fannie Freeman was divorced from Joseph Freeman, and restored to her maiden name, Fannie Kendall.

MRS. JANE CLARK, a well known and esteemed resident of this city, died this morning at the age of sixty-two years. She was an excellent woman and leaves a host of friends to deplore her death.

It is painful to see the gigantic editor of the Eagle stalking mincingly through a minuet. "Tis not thy vocation Hal." Unslung your war club and sail into the giddy mazes of the war dance.

THE committee to erect the jail have employed Mr. Sam. Chunn as architect to superintend the work of the contractor. We can rest assured that the work will be first-class under his supervision.

Says the Covington Commonwealth:
C. P. Huntington will, it is said, begin work on the South Shore Ohio River Road, from Covington to Huntington, on or about September 1st. It is also reported that in connection with the "Big Four," he will build a railroad bridge across the Ohio, at or about Central avenue, to connect both systems of roads.

A REPORT reached Maysville this morning that George Williams was shot and killed by John Chisholm, at the Blue Lick Springs on the 25th inst. The tragedy grew out of a disagreement over a game of cards.

THE stone wall in front of the new residence of Mr. Adna Wadsworth, is one of the best ever put up in Maysville. One of the stones used, and obtained from Hon. W. H. Wadsworth's quarry, was fourteen inches thick, six feet by seven in size, and weighed 7,000 pounds. It is valued at $50. The work is being done by John Powers and John Fitzgerald.

THE BULLETIN is indebted to Messrs. J. B. Newton and T. F. Ellis, the managers, for an invitation to be present at a moonlight fete to be given on Thursday evening the 1st proximo, on the beautiful grounds at Mr. Wm. Bains' residence. The facilities for dancing will be of the best, and the music will be furnished by Prof. Venie's well known string band. It will doubtless be a most enjoyable occasion.

"Our Boys" Party.

By the hospitality of Mrs. C. B. Pearce Jr., last Tuesday night "Our Boys" were enabled to give a dancing party in honor of the numerous young ladies who are now brightening Maysville with their presence. Mrs. Pearce kindly allowed them to have the third story over the State National Bank. There is not in town a pleasanter place for a small party, and the floor was waxed so evenly and so well that one's feet danced of themselves with any feeling of fatigue. The large hall adjoining the spacious dancing room gave ample opportunity for promenading, while between the sets (and sometimes while they were going on, but keep this quiet) the large staircase received its full share of attention from various couples who seemed to prefer its "dim religious light" to the brilliancy of the ballroom. The costumes of the ladies were beautiful and appropriate, being mostly white, with enough color interspersed to give the best effect. Where there were so many lovely ones, it would be difficult to award the golden apple, and the reward of Paris not being within our reach, we will allow the fair goddesses to decide among themselves. Both "Our Girls" and the stranger guests looked unusually well, and of course "Our Boys" were "just too handsome." Prof. De La Venie was master of the orchestra, and this was one of the times when he did his best. The dancing continued until nearly two o'clock, when the merry assembly dispersed with gratitude to their hostess, and pleasant recollections of the evening. The young ladies present from a distance were Miss Lottie Stanton, of Frankfort, Miss Gabrielle Brent, of Paris, Miss Mamie Wilson and Miss Annabel Harbeson, of Augusta, Miss Lucie Durett and Miss Alice Massie, of Washington, Miss Frazee, of Indianapolis, Miss Julia Wood, of Washington. "Our Girls" were Misses Affie Watson, Lucile Sulser, Julia and Etta Everett, Morton Duke, Judith Keith, Lizzie Moores, Nona Calhoun, May Morgan, Belle Davis Phister, Lizzie Poyntz, Bessie Johnson, Florrie Albert, Sophia Albert, Nellie Albert, Julia Wood, Anna Douglas January. "Our Boys" were Messrs. Tom and Geo. Keith, Frank Phister, C. Dawson Sulser, Chas. Young, Tom. Stockton, Walter and Ed. Watson, Ollie Poyntz, Bob. Pepper, Hiram Pearce, Harry Frazier, Ben Thomas, S. Duke Martin, Frank Mannen, Geo. Phillips, Bob. Baldwin, Geo. Cox, Porter Orr, Frank Wheatley, and Mr. Rogers, of Newark, Ohio. The chaperones were Mrs. C. B. Pearce, jr., Mrs. James Johnson, Mrs. Charles Poyntz, and Mr. and Mrs. R. Albert.

COUNTY POINTS.

LIMESTONE.

Mr. John Power has treated himself to an elegant new barouche.

W. R. Newell recently had a fine young horse to die.

Mr. Joseph Overley has gone to Fleming county for the benefit of his health.

Died, July 25th, infant child of Mr. James O'Neal.

W. B. Clark delivered his crop of tobacco to Frazee, of Maysville, at $12 per cwt. all around.

Bacon & Chambers, our tobacco merchants, are busy prizing and shipping. They have thus far prized upwards of a hundred hds.

There are several heretofore staunch republicans here that will support Dennis Fitzgerald in preference to John C. Kirk. They say Kirk is too bitter a pill for them to swallow. Correct they be. AMATEUR.

GAS POINT.

Our base ball club, the "Athletics," will play the "New comers," of McKibben's school house, a match game next Saturday evening.

There will be a temperance mass convention held at the court house, in Mt. Olivet, on the 23rd day of August. Several able speakers are expected to be present. Free lunch will be on the lot.

The Sunday school at McKendrie's chapel closed for the season last Sunday.

GOING TO THE POSTOFFICE.

The Simple Faith of the Venerable Junebroke Duke.

Detroit Free Press.

One of the oddest sights in the south is to see the negroes hang about the postoffices. They are the first ones to call in the morning and the last to leave at night; and it is by no means rare to have them inquire for mail fifteen times a day. I was in the office at Marietta, Ga., when an aged darkey limped in and inquired:

"Am dar fo' or five letters heah for Junebroke Duke?"

"No, sir," replied the postmaster, after taking a look.

"Well, den, I'll take one."

"There are no letters for you."

"Isn't dar a newspaper?"

"No."

"Hasn't I dun got nuffin' tall?"

"Not a thing."

"Dat's curus—werry curus," muttered the man, as he walked out.

I followed after, and when I asked him if he expected an important letter that day, he replied:

"Sartin I does. Dat's why I'ze walked fo' miles dis mawnin'."

"Where was the letter coming from?"

"I dunno."

"Who did you expect to write to you?"

"I dunno."

"Did you expect news or money in the letter?"

"Deed I did sah. I 'spected dat letter might hab $20 into it."

"Who from?"

"I dunno, but I 'spected it."

He then told me that he could neither read nor write, had no friends to write to him, had never mailed or received one in his life, and yet he had inquired for mail at least five hundred times a year for the past ten years. In fact, it wasn't an hour after I left him before he circled around to the office again and said:

"Reckon I mus' hab some mail by dis time."

"No—nothing for you."

"Wall, if dat hain't curus—werry curus! Reckon I'd better wait fur dat one o'clock train!"

A Speculator's Piety.

A Georgian was one day honored with a call from a local clergyman, who stated that he was soliciting subscriptions for the erection of a new church edifice and added:

"The Lord will surely prosper all who aid us."

"Do you honestly believe that?"

"Why, certainly I do."

The other subscribed $500 and as the clergyman rose to go he said:

"I have no doubt the Lord will repay you for this inside of six months."

Only six weeks had passed when the liberal-hearted subscriber called upon the clergyman and said:

"You remember I subscribed $500 toward your church building. I now want to go $300 more for the seats and carpets."

"Has the Lord prospered you, as I predicted?"

"You bet! He not only discounted your time one-half, but He has permitted me to gobble up all the stock in a railroad except about $5,000 held by a widow. I want to subscribe $300 more and have the Lord bring her to time!"

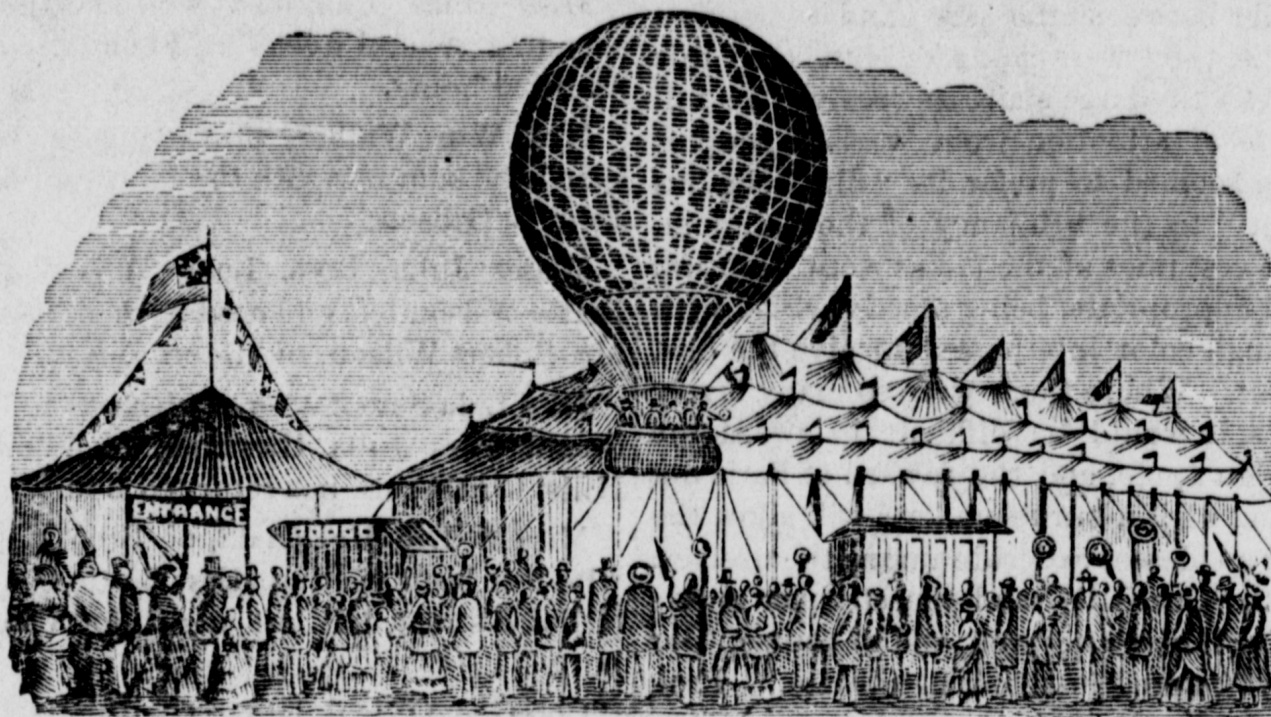

A smart Warsaw man who wanted to put a stop to his cow's switching her tail while he was milking, tied that appendage to the picket fence. The bovine became frightened, and the man says he wouldn't mind repairing the fence, as it would be a just judgment on him for being a fool, but he does think it pretty rough that she should drag a ten-foot section of it through his garden and tear up about every growing thing there.

M. Giffard, the well-known Parisian inventor, lately deceased, left to the French Government a generous legacy, under most singular conditions. It is to be devoted to the establishment of suicidaria or public institutions in which persons suffering from painful and incurable diseases may bring their own lives to an end, under the direction of medical experts, and with the consent of their immediate relatives.

In a recent lecture, Mrs. Julia Ward Howe remarked as to idols of the affection, that falling in love is a thing which has gone so entirely out of fashion that a woman of her age might be excused for asking whether any one of those present had ever dreamed what the idea of such an experience could be.
